WHAT IF I DON'T QUALIFY FOR NEED-BASED AID?

PAGE 6

MERIT AID AND COMPETITION

1. Identify where the student will be eligible for scholarships
2. Some colleges require FAFSA/CSS in order to qualify for scholarships
3. MYCAP.COLLEGEAIDPRO.COM
4. School-by-school basis; some more generous than others

*Ivy League, NESCAC, etc. do not give merit-awards

5. Apply to competing college

VALUE SCHOOLS

1. Lower end of tuition range = value
-Ex: James Madison (VA) COA = ~$40,000

Private Scholarship Tip #1: Shop Local!

Class of 2023 families should check with the school counseling office now for requirements and dates

Most high schools release local scholarships applications December - March

On average only 33% of high school seniors apply for local scholarships. Great odds!

Most local scholarships will be awarded May-June. Ask for a personal check.

Private Scholarship Tip #4: Deadlines & Organization

Start Early. There are even scholarships for underclassmen.

Do not miss deadlines

Track every scholarship in one place.
Make copies of paper scholarships.

Dedicate 2-3 hours per week on private scholarship searching and prep

13

Private Scholarship Tip #5: Complete Financial Aid Applications

PAGE 14

The FAFSA is the 1st step in applying for financial aid and scholarships. Do it!

Make sure you know which colleges and scholarships require the FAFSA and the CSS Profile.

Most private scholarships require the FAFSA.

Be aware of state specific programs and deadlines.

14

Can Private Scholarships Impact Financial Aid Packages?

Scholarship displacement

Some colleges reduce need-based grants up to the amount of the scholarship.

It very rarely impacts merit-based awards.

Every college handles this differently.

Always appeal this result if/when a college lowers your financial aid award.

CAMERON IMPACT SCHOLARSHIP

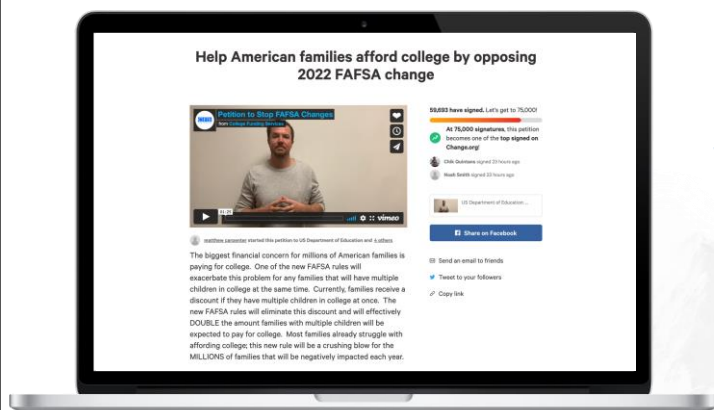

The Cameron Impact Scholarship is intended to cover the full tuition and 'qualified educational expenses' (as defined by the Internal Revenue Service) at the recipient's chosen collegiate institution. 'Educational expenses' vary amongst higher institutions, but the Scholarship is intended to cover tuition, fees, and books. The Cameron Impact Scholarship does not cover Room and Board.
